FOOCHOW WINTER RACE MEETING

FIRST DAY, 13th December, The fine bright weather of ansday morning augured well for a pleasurable race-meeting. which, indeed, this Winter Meeting proved to disagreeable in the weather; no cold wind to be in every respect. The course was in expital pinch up the lookers on or try the tempers of order, albeit rendered rather heavier going than the racing poules. There were three events heretofore on account of the sumewhat thickly laid saud, together with the open weather we have had of late, a great contrast to last winter's interest, namely, the Ladies Purse, the Silver meeting when the ground was over hard. This heavier state of the course must be taken into consideration when read no the times made. apparently they were bid, but with a similarly ight course to that of last December we do not hexitate to say that in most of the events better times would have been recorded. The occasion was vividly brought back to me a few days ago when reading the Badminton Book on Race Riding in which is the following account of a match ridden by Tom Caunon and Fred THE MONETARY C NEERENCE: THE REPORT Archer on horses of about equal speed: "They started and raced together side by side, and Fordham watched as the pair approached the place where he stood not for from the winning child's proposals declares them to be of the post.
